Cabots Regarding Occupation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The American government will demand that Japan evacuate Siberia when the question of security for the dominion of Siberia is taken up by the Arms Conference. The opposition of the United States to the continued military occupation by Japan is much the same as was the opposition of this government to the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which has now been scrapped for the Four Power Pacific pact. It never has been expressed openly. There have been inner charges of note between the two governments, but they have never been made public. Alleged communications between France and Japan made public today showing collusion between the two powers in Siberia were still being discussed here.

TRIBUTE PAID
DR. R. H. JESSE AT DEDICATION

Name of Former President of University Given to Administration Building Yesterday.

HIS IDEALS ARE PRAISED

Dr. J. C. Jones, H. J. Waters,
William H. Black and Guy
A. Thompson Tell of His Services.

With former colleagues, associates and pupils paying tribute to Richard Henry Jesse, president of the University from 1891 to 1908, as a martyr to the University and to the state of Missouri, a great educator and a builder for the state and its enterprises, the name of Academic Hall was formally changed to Richard Henry Jesse Hall at the opening convocation of the winter term held in the University Auditorium yesterday morning.

Characterizing Doctor Jesse, who died here January 22, 1921, as a gentleman, utterly devoid of the spirit of jealousy and with a magnificent personality, four speakers paid tribute to the former president in eloquent addresses before an assemblage of students, faculty members and townspeople that taxed the capacity of the auditorium.

EDUCATORIAL ADDRESS GIVEN

Dr. J. C. Jones, acting president of the University, following speeches by three others, delivered the address of dedication, in which he said: "May the students and teachers who pass through this hall in the coming years cherish as above price that intellectual honesty, that sense of justice and right and that unselfish devotion to duty that animated him whose name it bears."

Doctor Jones stated that the selection of Academic Hall to bear the name of Doctor Jesse was due not so much to his being the largest and most important building erected during his administration as to the fact that it was the home of those subjects commonly known as the "humanities," in which Doctor Jesse took an especial interest and to the advancement of which he had devoted the earlier years of his life.

"There are three qualities which Doctor Jesse possessed that impressed all of his intimate friends and formed the basis of his success," said Doctor Jones. "They were intellectual honesty, his sense of justice and right, and his unselfishness."

"If a difficult piece of work were to be done or a delicate matter to be adjusted he was always ready to give from the reservoir of his strength for the one and to take the risk of odium and unpopularity for the other. It is that that today we should recall the splendid service of Doctor Jesse for this institution. We are today reaping the abundant fruits of his toil."

FORMER STUDENT SPEAKS

Guy Atwood Thompson, a graduate of the class of 1898, now living in St. Louis, spoke of Doctor Jesse as being the founder of the chief pride of the University, the "Missouri spirit." Mr. Thompson was one of the few students who had occasion to have a class under Doctor Jesse, and spoke of him as "a courteous gentleman, who in his inaugural address set a high standard of ideals for the University and fulfilled each of them during his stay at the head of the institution."

Thompson, as did other speakers on the program, spoke of the excellent work of Doctor Jesse in rebuilding the University after the fire in 1892. The mass meeting of faculty members and students on the morning following the fire in which Doctor Jesse said that "the University would not suspend but would go forward" was dwelt upon by the former student.

Speaking from the standpoint of a former member of the faculty, Henry J. Waters, editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, who was Dean of the College of Agriculture for twelve years, congratulated the board of curators and the administration of Doctor Jesse, congratulating the board of curators and the administration of Doctor Jesse, congratulating the board of curators and the administration of Doctor Jesse.

institution as faculty members and brought in new ones of influence.

When Doctor Jesse became president of this institution there were one building, 487 students, a budget of $122,000 and 36 teachers. When he retired, there were 14 buildings, 3,094 students, a budget of $644,000 and 271 teachers.

"A VIRGINIA GENTLEMAN"

"A Virginia gentleman with all refinement, grace, scholarship and ideals was Doctor Jesse," said William H. Black, president of the Missouri Valley College at Marshall, who spoke on the standpoint of a colleague in educational work.

"Co-operation, supervision, standardization and exaltation featured his work which was greatly aided by the wonderful influence of a cultured and highly refined wife."

Doctor Black also told of the work which Doctor Jesse did in raising the standards of high schools in Missouri to meet the requirements of entrance to the University and other colleges. When he became president of the University but six high schools in the state were accredited and when he retired more than 300 high schools were accredited, according to Doctor Black.

The Rev. W. C. Shewmaker, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, delivered invocation and benediction at the services, which were opened by the University band and closed with the singing of "Old Missouri." The string quartet of the University rendered two special selections.

The rostrum was occupied by professors, associate and assistant professors and instructors in academic dress, besides the speakers for the occasion.

The changing of the name of Academic Hall to Richard Henry Jesse Hall came as the result of a favorable vote on the question by the Board of Curators in Kansas City, November 23.

GOVERNOR TO FILL VACANCY

Sproul, of Pennsylvania Will Take Place of Senator Penrose.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Gov. William C. Sproul, of Pennsylvania, will take the place made vacant by the death of Senator Penrose, a leading administration senator, said today.

"I expect Sproul to take the seat within twenty-four hours," the senator said. He had had a lengthy long-distance telephone conversation with Sproul, in which he gave the impression that he would succeed Penrose.

Senator Watson, Indiana, one of the administration leaders, visited the White House today, and conferred with President Harding. They discussed Penrose's successor and the Newberry case, it was indicated.

Following the conference Watson said publicly that he was of the opinion that Sproul would resign the governorship and take the vacant senatorial seat. His administration is anxious to muster its full strength for the fight to prevent Senator Newberry, Michigan, from being ousted on the charge of "buying his election."

Funeral arrangements for Penrose were deferred today pending arrival of Spencer Penrose, a brother from Colorado Springs, Colo. Burial will be private.

Senator Penrose, whose death occurred late Saturday night, was 61 years old. He died of pulmonary trouble, which led to heart failure. His sickness started early last week with a bad cold. He had recently recovered from a long spell of illness which kept him absent from his duties in the Senate for many months, and his death was unexpected.

Senator Penrose has always been aligned with the "Old Guard" section of the Republican party. He has taken a leading part in the framing of tariff and financial legislation during his service in the Senate.

COUNCIL LETS CONTRACT FOR CITY'S SEWER

Councilmen Also Accept Bid of McCoy Construction Company for Disposal Plant.

2 VOTE AGAINST AWARD

Painted Curb Street Signs
Cost 90 Cents Each—Appropriations Are Made.

The contract for the construction of the sewer and disposal plant was awarded to the McCoy Construction Company at a regular meeting of the City Council last night. The council was to have taken action on the contracts at a special meeting tonight, but C. J. McCoy, who was present, asked that action be taken last night. Mr. Rodhouse moved that the contracts be awarded at the regular meeting; the motion was seconded by Mr. Rollins.

The clerk then read the contract for the construction of the disposal plant, and the bond in the penal sum of $83,000 for the faithful performance of the terms of the contract, executed by the McCoy Construction Co. of Maryland.

Dean E. J. McCausland reported that he had further investigated the qualifications of the lowest bidder, as to experience and competency in this class of work, that the construction of the tank in order to be efficient required great care and skill, and that this company had only constructed two small disposal plants. He found that only two of the bidders, the Abbot Company of Chicago, and the McCoy Construction Co., had submitted the required credentials.

After short deliberation the ordinance awarding the contract was read and passed, six members for, and two against.

The contract awarding the construction of the city sewer lines to the McCoy Company, was passed by the same vote as on the previous ordinance. The bond in this case was $40,000.

Councilman McQuitty, who had made an investigation of the proposed street markers, stated that the parties who had proposed to make the street markers, refused to install them for 25 cents apiece, after reading the specifications as prepared by the city engineer. They would, however, make the markers, stencil and store them away for use, for 90 cents apiece. They refused to place them under a price of 50 cents. City Engineer Silver stated that the markers could not be placed at 50 cents. It was ordered that 90 cents be allowed for the installation of the markers, and that the contract for the installation be deferred until next spring.

Appropriations were made as follows: Water and light fund.....$15,704.31 Security Fund.....40.00 Conley Poor Fund.....117.67 Sewer Fund.....52.00 General Revenue Fund.....3,468.92

Upon the adjournment of the council the contracts were executed by the mayor and C. J. McCoy. The bonds were then approved by the mayor.

REV. PETER AINSLIE WILL GIVE 3 LECTURES HERE
Authority on International Affairs to Make First Address Tomorrow Night.

The Rev. Peter Ainslie, pastor of the Christian Temple of Baltimore, Md., and well-known speaker on international affairs, will deliver a series of three lectures in Columbia this week. The feature address of the series will be given in the University Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, Friday night, when Doctor Ainslie will speak on "International Good Will," a subject with which he is familiar due to his attendance at the Hague Peace conference in 1919 and similar gatherings.

His first address will be made at the Christian Church tomorrow night, and Thursday night he will speak to a joint meeting of all the churches at the Presbyterian Church. The subject of his address Thursday night will be "Christian Unity."

Doctor Ainslie is making a tour of college communities throughout the United States under the auspices of the Carnegie Peace Foundation. Following the meeting Friday night, a round table conference to discuss problems in connection with his lecture will be held in the auditorium.

An advocate of the theory that all Christians who accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour are parts of the Church of Christ, Doctor Ainslie has for the past several years been the editor of the Christian Union Quarterly, a magazine published in this interest. It is expected that he will dwell at length on a discussion of this question at the meeting Thursday night.

Besides his positions as pastor and editor Doctor Ainslie is a trustee of the Carnegie Church Peace Union and a lecturer of more than national reputation.

PIKERS DEBATE
HERE FRIDAY

All University Classes to Be Dismissed at 10 O'clock for Contest.

All University classes will be dismissed at 10 o'clock Friday morning to allow students to attend the Missouri-Washington debate. No admission will be charged. The question to be debated will be the same question that was used in the recent Missouri-Oklahoma contest: "Resolved, that the Kansas industrial court plan for settling labor disputes should be adopted throughout the United States."

Missouri will have the affirmative of the question at this time. The team consists of Joseph R. Chilton, opener, Mary Hook and Herbert Blumer, closer, Dr. H. G. Brown, head of the department of economics at the University and chairman of the debating board, will preside. Prof. L. W. Atkins of the University of Chicago will be the judge. Immediately after the debate the local chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic fraternity, will entertain the members of the teams and the officials at an informal luncheon at Harris'. At this time Professor Atkins will explain his decision in detail.

As an example of the increasing interest being shown in forensics at the University, the Palms will be closed from 9:55 to 10:15 o'clock Friday morning.

The team which goes to Madison Thursday to debate Wisconsin Friday night will have the negative of the same question. The members will be Florence Meisner, opener, Louis D. Potter and John F. Caskey, Jr., closer. Arnold Perstein, debating coach, will go with the team to Madison. This team, in contrast to the one which debates Washington at Columbia, is composed of students who have had intercollegiate debating experience.

On the same day that these two contests take place, Wisconsin meets Washington at St. Louis. The same question will be debated. In each of the triangular debates, the affirmative team stays at home and the negative team makes the trip.

All of the debates will be conducted in the usual manner, with twelve-minute speeches and five-minute rebuttals. Two things are unique about the series, however. Only one judge will be used at the contests. This is an innovation which is coming into favor, but which was never used here. Arnold Perstein, who goes with the team to Madison, debated at Wisconsin last year and the year before, and is now coaching a team to appear against his alma mater. In his junior year at Wisconsin, Perstein debated both sides of the same question.

Culinary Committee to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the joint Culinary Parish convention committee at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the home of the Rev. James H. George to further discuss the convention of the Diocese of Missouri, which meets in Columbia on January 24 and 25. This committee represents all of the organizations in the parish.

DOCTOR J. C. JONES IS NAMED

M. U. TO SUCCEED DR. A. R. HILL

M. U.'S NEW HEAD

Dr. J. C. Jones

DR. WALSH PAYS TRIBUTE TO WRITING OF DANTE

Fordham University Professor Says
His Works Are Cherished
More Than Before.

"Dante showed human life on the curtain of eternity, above all things else," Dr. James J. Walsh, extension professor at Fordham University, and professor of physiological psychology at Cathedral College, New York, told his audience at the University Auditorium last night, in his address on "Dante, Humanity's Great Mind." Doctor Walsh pleased all those who heard him. His manner of presentation kept interest in his topic at a high pitch during his talk, in commemoration of Dante's death six centuries ago.

The doctor embodied the fact in his remarks that more books have been written about Dante than any other man, there being in Cornell University's library at the present time 8,800 volumes on this man. Twenty thousand articles have been written apropos to Dante, according to Doctor Walsh.

"Here in America, we might possibly have been expected to have been less attracted to him and even to have been deterred from interest by Dante's medieval beliefs. Yet our greatest literary men—Longfellow, Emerson, Holmes, James Russell Lowell, Charles Eliott Norton and many others spent much time in the discussion of Dante literature. Norton declared that 'Dante deals with the permanent and indelible elements of the soul of man.' That is one reason why he will never be out-of-date, why his memory is cherished more now than it even formerly has been."

Doctor Walsh came to Columbia from St. Louis, where he was in attendance to the meeting of the American Historical Association. He left today for East St. Louis, Ill., to deliver one of his series of addresses on Dante. He will make two talks in Kentucky and Ohio for two weeks before returning to his chair in Fordham University and Cathedral College. While in Columbia, Doctor Walsh was the guest of the Knights of Columbus.

After his lecture, Dr. James J. Walsh was given a dinner at the Knights of Columbus Students' Home. Among those present were: Prof. H. M. Belden, Prof. J. E. Wrench, Prof. Jonas Viles, Col. Joseph Plasmeyer, Father John P. Lynch, Prof. N. M. Tremblone and Prof. R. T. Kernan. A short talk by Doctor Walsh and an informal discussion of various subjects followed the dinner.

FIRE COSTLY TO STUDENT

Possessions Lost in Blaze at 1000
University Avenue.

The garage owned by Mrs. Rube Alford at 1000 University avenue was partially destroyed by fire about 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Clarence McCuskey, a student in the University, who had a room in the building and who had been staying there since he entered the University last fall lost virtually all of his possessions.

The origin of the fire is not positively known but it is believed that it started from a fire McCuskey had started in his room and left while he went to do his work. The fire was discovered too late for McCuskey to get any of his clothes out of the burning building. The damage to the building was estimated at about $100.
